

LIGHTING THE PATH AHEAD:

The future of precision medicine in gastric and gastro-oesophageal junction adenocarcinoma

Thursday, 27 June 2024 | 18:15–19:15 CEST

Room 13b, International Congress Centre Messe Munich, Munich, Germany | Livestreamed on the Virtual Congress Platform

Join us for a multidisciplinary symposium that discusses the impact of the evolving treatment landscape on our clinical practice.

Prof. Salah-Eddin Al-Batran (Chair)

Director of the Frankfurt Institute of Clinical Cancer Research (IKF), Krankenhaus Nordwest/University Cancer Center, Frankfurt, Germany

Prof. Nicola Fazio

Director of the Division of Gastrointestinal Medical Oncology and Neuroendocrine Tumours and Director of the Programme in Digestive and Neuroendocrine Tumours, European Institute of Oncology, Milan, Italy

Dr Carolina Martinez Ciarpaglini

Pathologist, Hospital Clínico universitario de Valencia, the Biomedical Research Institute INCLIVA, University of Valencia, Spain and Spanish Society of Pathology (SEAP)

Time (CEST)	Session and speaker(s)
-------------	------------------------

18:15–18:20	Welcome and introduction Prof. Salah-Eddin Al-Batran
-------------	--

18:20–18:35	Is light breaking through? The future for the management of G/GEJ adenocarcinoma Prof. Salah-Eddin Al-Batran
-------------	--

18:35–18:55	Seeing the light: Considerations for introducing new therapies into our practice Prof. Nicola Fazio and Dr Carolina Martinez Ciarpaglini
-------------	--

18:55–19:13	When the lights go out: All questions that keep you up at night Panel discussion and Q&A session, All faculty
-------------	--

19:13–19:15	Summary and close Prof. Salah-Eddin Al-Batran
-------------	---

G/GEJ, gastric/gastro-oesophageal junction.

This industry satellite symposium is intended for an international audience (healthcare professionals only), sponsored and organised by Astellas.

© 2024 Astellas Pharma Inc. or its affiliates.

All trademarks are the property of their respective owners.

April 2024 | MA-MM-09830